GETTING YOU OUT OF MY HEAD: THE STORY OF AN UNFINISHED LOVE

This is a story of what could have been... It is a funny, heartfelt, and nostalgic story of sliding doors, or, as the subtitle suggests, of an unfinished love.

Sabrina is a spirited instructor of yoga who lives in Boston, she has a wonderful husband and a beautiful daughter; her life seems perfect.

One day she receives a text message from an unknown number; this seemingly unimportant event ends up short-circuiting her ideal life. Who is writing her? Who is this person looking for? Sabrina has to retrace her steps from great American metropolis to small Italian town, where she was born. In so doing, she looks back on her life, recalling everything from her first crush in elementary school to her years at university, all the way up to her marriage. She begins to wonder what things would have been like if she had chosen differently.

Daniela has lived in the States for twenty years; she has a husband and three beautiful children who keep her very busy. She works as a teacher, and is also a dedicated volunteer. For more than ten years she has been a board member of the Dante Alighieri Society of Michigan, a group that is very dear to her because it keeps her connected to her Italian culture. Her favorite hobbies are learning, meeting people, and seeing new places. When she's not traveling, she spends time reading and playing the piano, but writing is her true passion.
